Customer Reviews

Amy Knapp was a businesswoman with a promotional advertising company when her daughter contracted meningitis at the age of two months. Realizing that she was going to have lifelong challenges and disabilities, Amy sold her business to become a stay-at-home mom, only to find that her organizational tools didn't help her be productive in a home environment. To fill the gap, she created Amy Knapp's Family Organizer, now in its sixth year with accumulated sales of over 500,000 copies. She lives in Kalamazoo, Michigan.

Hands down my favorite calendar-I have been buying it for years. Even in this digital age this is the hub of our family and where we all look to see where we need to be! All the stickers have been updated and some new ones were added.Reduced amounts of 'family vacation', 'vet', 'no school', and '1/2 day of school'.Newly added are 'girl's night', 'date night', 'concert', 'rehearsal', and 'volunteer'. (sorry, guys, no boy's night for you.)I included pics marked 'old' and 'new' to compare. The calendar itself appears unchanged.

I have bought this calendar for many years. I am a mom of four kids and there's a lot that I like about this guy.<sup>1</sup> It's big, but not too big. It's not like you've hung a desktop calendar on the wall, but it is larger than a 14X14 standard calendar. Each square has multiple lines to provide a lot of space for writing all kinds of events. It fits on the side of my fridge, and I use strong magnetic clips (two) to hold it up. It CAN be heavy, but I tear out the sticker pages and I distribute the weight evenly vs. hanging it on the first month with all other months hanging below it.<sup>2</sup> It's not limiting. Other calendars that are intended for families come color coded, and I find the color-coding limiting. I have some kids that have more activities than others, and the frequency of each person's events ebbs and flows with the months. With no color-coding I can opt to color code myself, or just use the lines as I see fit. It also does not have cheesy monthly themed graphics-- it's very straightforward! It's simple. It doesn't change my decor or add anything to it or draw attention to itself.<sup>3</sup> The stickers. This year they updated the font and the icons and they're really cute! I always do a nice job using the stickers when I get the calendar, but it fades for me as the months go on, but my intentions are sound! The only thing I would change is the line spacing-- for my handwriting, it's a little too spaced and I end up squishing two lines of my writing within the spacing provided.

Love this calendar! With enough room for the schedules of a busy family of 7, space for a simple daily menu and room for projects and notes to write down it fit my needs perfectly. I tried to do binder style schedule keeping with no luck. This is much easier to keep things organized at a glance. This will be my calendar "go-to" from this point on.

I've been using Amy Knapp's calendars for years and still prefer to keep a paper calendar (especially good for the kids to be able to add to it). Nice and big with room for all our activities (with 5 kids, there are a lot!). Space for meals and to-do lists.

I REALLY like this calendar. I've used it to keep track of my kids activities and school events for several years now. There's plenty of room to write daily events, and the stickers are great.

I have been getting the HUGE and AMAZING wall calendar for years! I love it!

The BEST calendar to keep a busy family organized. I purchase one every year and seamlessly blend my schedule from one month to the next. Sturdy, full of helpful extras, and big enough to write it ALL down. 10/10 would recommend.
