Cyndi Marko studied Fine Arts at Okanagan University College and she also studied Graphic Design and Prepress Technology at Humber College in Toronto. KUNG POW CHICKEN is her first children's book series. She currently lives in Canada.

My son love the Kung Pow Chicken books. The only problem is he's read all three and wants to read more. I am thankful for a series that get my son away from the electronics. Reading is one of the most important things a kid can do at home to increase his vocabulary and comprehension skills. It doesn't matter if it's a graphic novel, it's still reading. I'm thankful this series caught the attention of my kid.

My son loves this book as much as the other Kung Pow Chicken books. A mix of easy reader & comic book (with some speech bubbles). The Kung Pow Chicken books gives him confidence in his reading. Story is nothing special (to an adult like me) but I appreciate how much my kid likes all of the Kung Pow Chicken series.

Fantastic book series for students just getting ready to break into chapter books. These stories are very engaging! I love the full color pages, and goofy puns. I often have to explain some of the chicken puns to the 2nd graders I work with, but that just makes it more fun, I think!

No one liked these, they were too silly.

My son that is just starting to read LOVED this book!

Our Second Grade grandson has found these to be lots of fun to read and laugh over. He is beginning to read on his own and these are just perfect for that transition. What we have read together has been amusing and enjoyable. He'll stop me and read it again, adding his own dramatics. Very satisfying for Grandma who has a husband and a son who are professional actors. Here's another one on the way.

Not the books fault but has a zombie plot line I wasn't aware of - not appropriate for our little kids even though they keep it pretty light

Loved it. My kids adore it and it is a good option for second language English readers grade 2 and up. It hooks them, so they keep reading
