(Note: this review was dictated by my 15 month old son). "Baby Faces" is really one of those literary works that improves upon multiple close readings. It's opens in what seems to be a bit of a cliched drawing room sort of novel, with "happy baby" and "sad baby". But then it throws you for a real loop with "puzzled baby" and "surprised baby" and you know this book is something different. The middle portion gets quite dark and troubled, with "angry baby", "worried baby", and "crying baby", but you find emotional catharsis with "laughing baby". Then there's a steamy interlude that rises through "hungry baby" and peaks with "kissing babies". The "man against himself" plot enters with "dirty baby" and culminates with "clean baby". And of course, the denouement of "tired baby" and "fast asleep" wraps up in a delightful and unexpected way. There just so much going on, I could read it again and again and again and again and again and find something new every time.

I had checked out a library book by the same company but an older version and my one year old son loved it. In my opinion, the older version was better. The faces in this one don't always accurately display the emotion. Thought it was confusing for a child just learning about facial expressions and emotions.

This is a sturdy board type book full of all types of baby's faces...happy, sad, laughing, tearful, etc. Very popular book in our book collection! Good book for 6 months up I've found.

My 8 month old son loves flipping through this. The cover is soft and puffy with no sharp corners so I feel safe with him chewing on it. He laughs and smiles at the faces. The peek a boo page is weird, he has no interest in it at all. Love the rest!

my daughter really loves flipping through and seeing the different babies. Her favorites are Surprised and Tired right now. Most of the expressions match the text really well. Can they make more of these and sell here, because there just don't seem to be enough!

My five month old loves this book. She will look at the faces and even turn the pages on her own. The book is small enough for her to manoeuvre with her small hands. I like that the book includes all types of emotions.

Cheap board book - fell apart within a month. The pages snapped loose from the spine and fell out. Does not stand up to toddlers.

A 2- or 3- month old baby will definitely look at the faces, which is great. However, there are A LOT of negative expressions-- crying, angry, etc. The "puzzled" and "surprised" emotions are kind of a stretch too. And you can't tell what the babies are doing on the "kissing" page, it just looks like the side/back of two heads. Wish it was a bit more upbeat.
